

SETS (Seafarer Evaluation Training System) Test Online for Seamen on Monitor Compliance Legislative

Use the search below to find question.

Amount of questions: 14.

Right answers marked with this sign .

What is a passenger ship?

- A ship that carries more than ten passengers.
- A ship that carries more than twelve passengers. ✓
- A ship that carries more than six passengers.
- A ship that carries more than twenty passengers.

What sea area is known as «the continental shelf?»

- The section that slopes down gradually from the low-water mark to the depth, averaging 130 metres, at which the angle of declination increase markedly.
- The sea area to seaward of the Exclusive Economic Zone. ✓
- The safety zones around artificial islands.
- The waters surrounding the European continent only.

The MARPOL Annex I regulations for the prevention of pollution by oil apply to which ships?

- All Tankers only.
- Tankers greater than 500 gross tons.
- All vessels greater than 500 gross tons.
- All ships, unless expressly provided otherwise. ✓

The present SOLAS regulations, unless expressly provided otherwise, applies only to.....

- ships of war and troopships.
- cargo ships in excess of 500 gross tonnage. ✓
- ships not propelled by mechanical means.
- fishing vessels.

Which of the following statements is not correct?

- Ships must respect established sea-lanes and Traffic Separation Schemes.
- A coastal State has jurisdiction over installations and structures within its economic zone.
- An archipelagos State may designate sea lanes through its waters.
- The exclusive economic zone is the sea area within the 12 mile territorial sea. ✓

What is the meaning of the word «Convention», as used for instance in SOLAS, MARPOL and STCW «Conventions»?

- A Convention describes a party of delegates at a meeting.
- A Convention is a treaty between States, which have agreed to be bound by it to apply the principles contained in the convention within their sphere.
- A Convention explains maritime law based partly on generally accepted customary rules.
- A Convention explains the enactment of national legislation giving effect to and enforcing its provisions.

In international law the territorial sea forms part of a State's territory. At how many miles does the Law of the Sea Convention set the limit of the territorial sea?

- Three miles.
- Six miles.
- Twelve miles.
- Two hundred miles.

What do the letters UNCLOS stand for?

- United Nations Centre for Loss Prevention Studies, 1985.
- United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, 1982.
- United Nations Certificate for Load Line Spaces.

United Nations Classification of Ships, 1988.

The International Safety Management Code states that the company and the...

company directors shall comply with the requirements of the ISM Code.

port state control officer shall be mentioned in the Safety Management System.

ship shall comply with the requirements of the ISM Code. ✓ port State shall comply with the requirements of the ISM Code.

What is MARPOL?

The International Maritime Police Convention.

Maritime Policies as agreed by the IMO.

The International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships. ✓

The Marine Environmental Protection and Liability Convention.

The normal base line for measuring the extent of the territorial area along the coast, as marked on large scale charts officially recognised by the coastal State is.....

the low-water line. ✓

the estuary.

the high-tide line.

the mean high water line.

Where would you find a sea area known as the «Contiguous Zone»?

- It is an area seaward of the territorial sea within which the coastal State enjoys limited jurisdiction. ✓
- It is a sea area surrounding an archipelago within which the coastal State enjoys limited jurisdiction.
- It is the 200 mile zone seaward of the normal coastal base line.
- It is the area landward of the territorial sea; that is the estuaries and harbours.

What is the SOLAS Convention?

- The «Voluntary Code for Safety Of Life At Sea».
- The «International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea». ✓
- The «Convention on Life Saving Appliances».
- The «International Life Saving Appliance Code».

The law of the sea is embodied in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and the.....

- London Conventions of 1955.
- STCW Convention of 1978 as amended in 1995.
- United Nation Conventions of 1958.
- Geneva Conventions of 1958. ✓

Did you find mistake? Highlight and press CTRL+Enter

SOC.MEDIA

SEA-MAN.ORG